

- Omani Marble - Oman

Omani Marble is the leading producer of marble tiles and slabs in Oman and among the largest in the region. As part of its expansion plans Omani marble was looking for a new solution that offers full integration of its financial, sales and warehouse activities. After examining several solutions Omani decided to partner with DataSet and Implement its ERP system FINPAC. Their selection of FINPAC came after a rigorous process of products screening and research among and came as a result of three months of interviews and product comparison.

From month one huge improvements in the sales department were evident to management and staff. The manufacturing department was able to communicate and integrate its activities with sales and warehousing thus real time data was available for customers and management alike. As production cut off was achieved in the third month of implementation , Omani marble was able to function fully with zero time interruptions and with big gains in time saving and efficiency. This success story has lead Omani marble to contract DataSet to implement its full business suite and automate in the current factory and the new factory intended to be set up at the beginning of 2008.
